

Waterford Administrator Elected President of CASPA

Dianne Lowther, Director of Human Resources, is serving a two year term as President of the Connecticut Association of School Personnel Administrators (CASPA). CASPA is a professional organization of Personnel/Human Resource Administrators, Superintendents, Assistant Superintendents, and other administrators and support staff who are responsible for the personnel/human resource functions in Connecticut school districts. The organization provides support to public school professionals that are involved with recruiting, interviewing, hiring, benefit administration, contract negotiations, testing, certification, grievance processing, data management, human relations, professional development, or any other aspect of employee relations. Ms. Lowther is instrumental in planning informational/instructional meetings that support the membership throughout the year. The American Association of Personnel Administrators is the parent organization for CASPA and in 2009 the Connecticut association will sponsor the national conference in Hartford. The theme of the conference is Connect in Connecticut.
